

Survival Kit Final Project

As your final project you will be working to design a survival kit for a person who is moving out of the family home to live independently. The kit will contain common household items representing characteristics or helps in successfully living an independent lifestyle.

GUIDELINES

1. Your kit must contain 12 items.
2. The items themselves are not usually what you need to survive (not food, address book, bath towels, etc.) They represent clues that are necessary for successful independent living.
3. Only 2 of the items can come from the suggested list verbatim
Note: You can use items in the suggested list if you create a different description of how they will help you OR you can use the way it will help you but use a different object to put in the kit.
4. Provide a description of what the item will do to help the person survive.
5. Provide a container, even something as simple as a ziplock bag, to hold the items.
6. Bonus points can be earned in the following ways:
  - More than 12 items-Credit only given if the use is also provided
  - Unique packaging of the items

KINDS OF SURVIVAL KITS

- College Survival Kit
  - Military Survival Kit
  - My First Apartment Survival Kit
  - Independent Living Survival Kit
- (If you have another appropriate idea, check with the teacher)

SUGGESTED LIST

Smarties-To give you extra “smarts” to successfully make decisions on your own
Chocolate Kiss-To remind you that your family still loves you
String or Rope-When you reach the end of your rope, this will help you hang on a little longer
Eraser-To erase past mistakes-yours and other people’s
Seed Packet-To remind you that you are still growing—even at age 100
Glue Stick-To hold together on those challenging days
