

Dream House Presentations

Want to get your students fired up about Interior Design? Give them the opportunity to host their own segment of MTV Cribs for Teens or FACS TV Cribs or FCS Cribs (you choose). Have students create a PowerPoint presentation detailing their dream homes. Allow them to add creative animations and music. And, if you have the resources, allow them to shoot video of themselves describing it as well as if they are actually on the show showing their crib. To inspire them even more, you may want to show them some MTV Teen Crib episodes or the regular MTV Cribs episode (but beware the language and some of the actions of the celebrities).

You can check out the following site to preview full episodes before sharing with your class!

Usually after students have completed and presented their projects, I then make them go back through their presentations and label the rooms by design elements, principles, and/or color schemes after we have discussed this subject matter in class.

Foundations of Interior Design Dream House Presentations

Individually, students will create a Dream House presentation. This will be something carefully thought out, planned and organized, and creatively done. Students will present presentations to the class on 1/11/16. The presentations should include the following:
